Riva is the leader in CRM and email integration.

Since 2008, we have developed server-side integrations for a dozen of the world's best CRM systems and five corporate email platforms. Riva syncs Oracle Sales Cloud directly to Exchange, Office 365, Gmail, IBM Notes, GroupWise, and Marketo. With no client-side plug-ins to install, configure, manage, or fix.

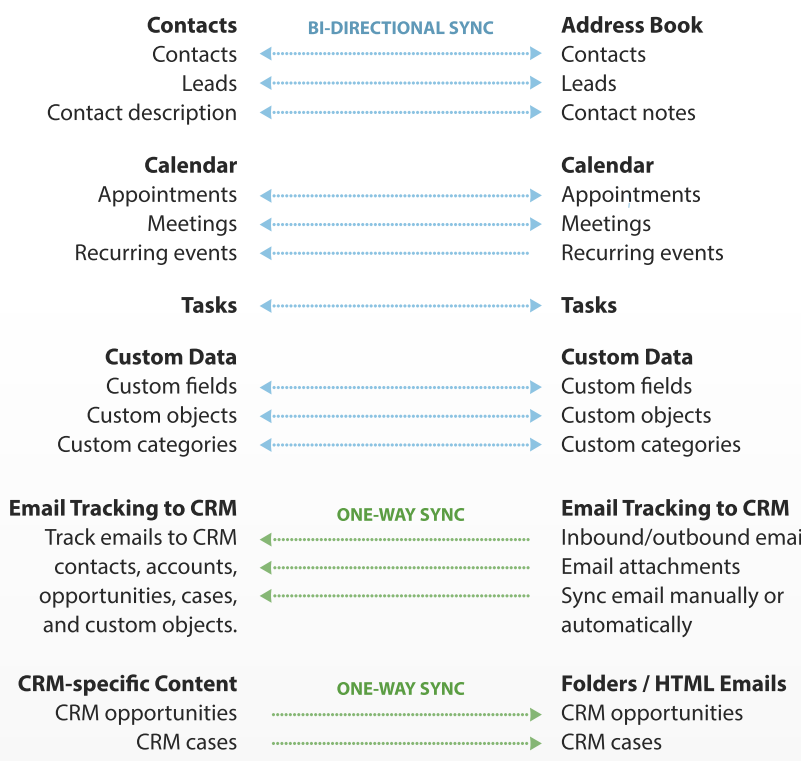

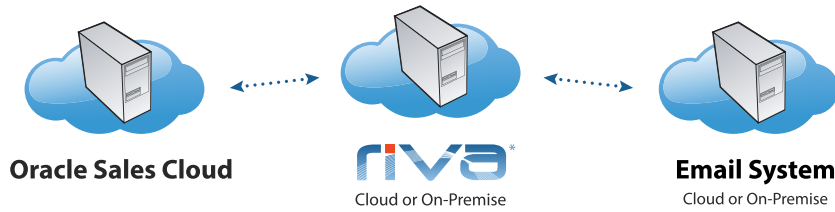

The reason why over 1,000 companies globally trust Riva – including 35 Fortune 500 companies, 12 of the world's largest banks, and hundreds of SMBs – is because Riva syncs CRM data reliably. We could tell you about Riva's advanced sync options that drive CRM adoption and sales productivity, but the #1 reason why companies choose Riva is because they are looking for a better and more reliable way to sync their contacts, calendars, tasks, email, opportunities, cases, and custom objects.

So, what makes Riva better than alternative sync solutions?

Riva is simpler to manage. There are no plug-ins to install or manage. Riva syncs data more reliably. We sync Oracle Sales Cloud to all email clients and mobile devices. Riva lets sales reps view their CRM calendars, contacts, and other data in offline and online modes on iPad, iPhone, Android, BlackBerry, and Windows phones. Riva provides several advanced configuration options, including contact sync filters, advanced calendar integration options, automatic email tracking, one-way or two-way sync, support for custom fields and custom objects, and more.
